

HEALTH AND SAFETY
AUTHORITY

hsalearning.ie
HSA Online Courses

An Introduction to Construction Safety

(for small contractors and the self-employed)

An Introduction to Construction Safety

(for small contractors and the self-employed)

The Health and Safety Authority (HSA) has developed a free online course for small contractors and the self-employed. The course is specifically aimed at contractors who employ people to complete construction work on domestic projects and small commercial projects, as well as those individuals within the construction industry who are self-employed.

It is also suitable for employers and employees working in the construction sector, key duty holders, or those employing small contractors to carry out work.

The course was developed with the support of the Construction Industry Federation (CIF).

Why should I take this course?

- Small or self-employed contractors are most at risk of injury and ill-health on construction sites
- Learn about key requirements under health and safety legislation
- Improve your knowledge of construction hazards, and how to manage them
- Learn about the consequences of unsafe work practices
- Improve your knowledge of safety, health and welfare on construction sites
- Familiarise yourself with the most up-to-date information on construction safety, including the Safety Statement
- The course is free and accessible 24/7
- Study the course at your own pace and in your own time
- Download your certificate directly on completion and add to your CPD records
- Refresh your knowledge – you can take the course again at any time.

How do I register for the course?

Enrol now on →

Email: wcu@hsa.ie

Tel: 1890 289 389

www.hsa.ie